NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Giving the market a strong start in London and at home, traders expected the impetus would be sufficient to keep it going reasonably well, but though the start was good the strength petered out within a few minutes after the opening. The Street immediately furnished its daily excuse. New York city is stated to be contemplating the sale of another large block of bonds. Coming at a time when $7,500,000 Kansas City Terminal bonds and $15,000,000 Smelters Securities bonds are expected to be floated, the threat of closer money is not to the liking of the market.

Moreover the Street is inclined to give more or less serious consideration to the prospects of a reduction in the dividend rate on New York Central within the next six months. There is stock for sale around 113½, and there doesn't seem to be any support whatever.

In the loan crowd the rate of Steel is 3½ per cent, and on practically everything else 3 per cent.

While the majority of traders are perfectly willing to go up with the market if the manipulators have the ability to force an advance, they do not like the willing to go up with the market if the manipulators have the ability to force an advance, they do not like the willing to go up with the market if the manipulators have the ability to force an advance, they do not like the willing to go up with the market if the manipulators have the ability to force an advance, they do not like the willing to go up with the market if the manipulators have the ability to force an advance, they do not like the wilding to go up with the market if the manipulators, they do not like the willing to go up with the ability to force an advance, they do not like the willing to go up with the ability to force an advance, they do not like the willing to go up with the ability to force an advance, they do not like the willing to go up with the ability to force an advance, they do not like the willing to go up with the ability to doucle and the absorption of stock, should they detect the leaders letting go

Again practically the entire interest centered in Gas rights. Mone is working easier in this city and else working easier in this city and elsewhere. The opportune call has helped matters and some bankers are offering better than 90 or even 95 on the dollar on Gas 5's. Before the call 90 was about the maximum. Some customers are actually being favored with par, and this materially improves the situation.
